At least 20% of the Fund's liquid assets are held in discounted treasury bills issued by the Hungarian government. The Fund does not have a reference index. The Fund reinvests the received interest, it does not distribute its income. The Fund's investment units can be purchased and redeemed on every distribution day. What are the risks and what could I get in return?

Risk indicator

The risk indicator assumes you keep the product for 2 years. The actual risk can vary significantly if you redeem at an early stage and you may get back less than the amount invested.

The summary risk indicator can help you assess the risk related to this product in comparison with other products. It shows how high the probability is that you lose money with this product if the markets develop in a certain way or we are not able to pay you out.

We have classified this product as 3 out of 7, which is a medium-low risk class. This rates the potential losses from future performance at a medium-low level, and poor market conditions are unlikely to impact our capacity to pay you. Tax laws that affect you may affect the actual payout.

Risk elements that are not fully expressed by the aggregated risk indicator, but are of decisive importance from the Fund's point of view: liquidity, operational and counterparty risk. Chapter 26 of the Fund's Prospectus provides further detailed information on these risk factors. This product does not include protection against future market performance, so you may lose all or part of your investment. If the custodian of the Fund is unable to make the payment due to you, you may lose your entire investment.

However, you can use a consumer protection scheme (see the section „What happens if the Fund Manager is unable to pay out“). The above indicator does not take this protection into account. For detailed information about all risks relating to the Fund please refer to the risk sections of the Prospectus and any supplements thereto as specified in the section "Other relevant information" below.

What happens if the Fund Manager is unable to pay out?

The custodian of the Fund's assets is Raiffeisen Bank Zrt., which keeps the Fund's assets separate from its own and the Fund Manager's assets. If the Fund Manager were to go bankrupt, the Fund's assets would not be affected, the custodian would liquidate the Fund's assets and pay them to the investors. The custodian is liable to the Fund and its investors for any losses caused by negligent or intentional failure to perform its safekeeping or recordkeeping obligation. The custodian is a member of BEVA. This institution of compensation is intended to mitigate the damages that investors may suffer as a result of the BEVA member with whom they deposited securities or money not being able to fulfill their legitimate claim. The Fund is not subject to any legal or other deposit guarantee.

Costs over time

We may share part of the costs with the person selling you the product to cover the services they provide to you. These figures include the maximum distribution fee that the person selling you the product may charge (3% of amount invested / HUF 120 000). How long should I hold it, and can I take money out early?

Recommended holding period: 2 years

The product is a short-term bond fund, its risk classification is medium-low, and the recommended holding period corresponds to this.

The Fund is a public, open-ended fund, therefore the distributor is obliged to accept redemption orders for the investment unit and to provide a distribution settlement day on every banking day (distribution day), except in cases of suspension and interruption of the distribution of investment units, and the interruption of the distributor's customer service. When redeeming investment units, the distributor may charge a 2% penalty commission in addition to the above fees. A penalty fee is charged if:

- less than 5 banking days have passed between the purchase and redemption of the investment units, or their conversion to the investment units of another investment fund managed by the Fund Manager;
- the value of the units to be redeemed by the investor exceeds HUF 100.000.000, i.e. one hundred million forints, and the investor has not notified the Fund Manager of his request in writing at least 5 banking days prior to the redemption (indicating the amount, the distributor and the date).

Because of the above, your actual cost may increase significantly if you hold your investment for less than 5 banking days, or if you fail to comply with the above reporting requirements, and you may receive a smaller amount back.
